

PASTOR'S PULPIT:

"COWBOY CHURCH" is coming to United

Churches! Sunday, June 10th, 10:00 a.m. Our speaker will be Larry Schell, who is a recent graduate of Frontier Bible College in Lagrange, Wyoming. He is from a ranch background and will share some of his story with us. There will be a music group (yet to be determined). It will be a great time in the Lord!

Now here's a story from the recent Guideposts magazine, to remind us of God's provision. "MYSTERIOUS WAYS"

My boss called me into her office. The company had taken a big downturn, she told me. Are they going to let me go? I wondered, trying my best to stay calm.

My husband, Rick, and I had just moved to the area. We loved skiing and had always wanted to live in Colorado. We'd finally gotten the chance when Rick was offered a high school teaching job there. The move from Oklahoma to a small town near Telluride drained our finances. We couldn't even afford to ski. I needed full-time work just to help cover our living expenses. Most jobs were seasonal. But I'd secured this one almost immediately. Was I now about to lose it?

"Just hang in there," said my boss, to my surprise. "The company is on the verge of a turnaround." I promised her that I would not resign.

I couldn't shake my worries, though. Back at my desk, I checked the newspaper. I found a listing for the perfect job. It was full-time. I was qualified. The office was near by, in Mountain village. The position would be filled if I didn't apply soon. But I had to honor my promise. Lord, I prayed, all I can do is trust you.

Then, three weeks later, I was laid off. When I got over the shock, I checked the newspaper. Sure enough, that earlier job listing was gone. There was nothing else full-time.

That Sunday at church, one of my friends said she'd just heard about a job opening. The employer had hired and trained someone for two weeks. Rejection letters had gone out to the other candidates. Then the new employee had a family emergency and quit. My friend didn't know what the position was, only that the company needed someone immediately. I was eager for any possibility. I asked for the number.

I called and was told to come in that week. The interview went so well, I was offered the job starting the following Monday!

I was walking to my car when it clicked. The job description. The Mountain village office. The position I'd just accepted was the same one I'd seen in the newspaper weeks earlier! The job was so competitive, I wouldn't have gotten an interview if I'd applied then. The best part? My new benefits included free ski passes for my husband and me.

Community Church Service: You will notice on the June Calendar that Sunday, June 24th we will be having a "Community Church Service" at 9:00 a.m. in Centennial Park. This will be instead of our usual ten o'clock Worship Service. An invitation will go out to the entire community to join us, as part of the three-day Main Street Arts & Crafts Festival. More details to come.

The 100th Anniversary of the forming of the United Churches will be coming up soon. We are seeking your ideas on how we can celebrate this occasion. A memento of this event, a historical booklet, the invitation of past pastors of the church, pictorial booklet, banquet, etc. Also, a decision on a date for the event. Ground breakings and cornerstone layings were held in the winter time historically.

The combining of the congregations actually began almost two years earlier, 1n 1918. The Baptists were invited to join the Presbyterians to conserve both fuel and ministers. The pastor of the church at this time was the Reverend Oliver Johnson. In June of 1920, the two churches were invited to join with the Methodist church. The three churches decided to continue to worship together and chose to meet in the sandstone Presbyterian church building on Happy Hollow Street.

Maybe we could get each denomination to gather local information for a booklet. Our library has some great information in the Helen McGee Room.

Still looking for help and suggestions, so please call Gerald Collogan at 745-3684. Thank you.

From the Fall River County Herald, May 3, 2018: Standing in front of the baseball field at Butler Park named after his father Norm Jenniges, the late Bud Jenniges was remembered recently when his wife of 63 years, Donna Jenniges, presented a check for $5,000 to representatives of the baseball program in Hot Springs. The funds were raised through a special Bud Jenniges Memorial Fund following his death on November 15, 2017. He was 84 years old.

"History of Bells" – Part 1:

By Carol Posthumus

Before cell phones, e-mail, and Facebook, church tower bells were used to communicate the news of the day. Time for prayer, births, deaths, and marriages were announced by the village bells. (Didn't Big Ben announce Prince Harry's wedding last weekend?) The taller the bell tower, the more bells hung in the tower, the more sound could reach farther in the village.

Rather than songs, the messages were conveyed through "changes" or patterns. The patterns were complicated. Bells were activated by pulling on ropes. To practice, bell ringers stood in the cold towers and made a lot of noise. Villagers living near the church did not appreciate the constant tolling.

English hand bells (the kind we have) were developed in the 16th century. Now bell ringers could practice indoors and didn't bother the neighbors.

In the Middle Ages, the superstitious believed bells had magic powers. They rang at a funeral to keep the Devil away from the departed soul. Bells rang on All Hallows Eve (Halloween) to drive out demons and unclean spirits. And it was considered 'bad luck' to ring up the scale; patterns NEVER ended on a high note. It was good to live near the church.

***On Sundays during the month of June, the bells will be set up in the sanctuary after church. You are welcome to stop by to try your hand at ringing--no commitment, just for fun. See you then!
